Introduction

Drive Electric

This Driver Handbook represents the terms and conditions of the provision of cars through Drive Electric - Barclays Car Leasing Scheme ("Drive Electric" or "Scheme"). Drive Electric is administered by Ayvens on behalf of Barclays.

Car benefits and the operation of Drive Electric are entirely at the discretion of Barclays. Barclays reserves the right to discontinue, suspend, vary or withdraw the Scheme or any part thereof at any time.

Additionally, Barclays reserves the right to remove the benefit from individual employees that fail to observe the terms and conditions, or the spirit of the Scheme.

This Driver Handbook will be reviewed on a regular basis. It is your responsibility to read the driver handbook from time to time and to understand the terms and conditions of the Scheme.

The Drive Electric website, administered by Ayvens, provides you with access to order new Electric Vehicles (EVs) of Plug-in Hybrid Electric Vehicles (PHEVs) in exchange for agreeing a fixed monthly reduction in salary. The provision of the vehicle includes all services required to run your car (save as set out in this driver handbook, for example fuel, including electricity for charging, and oil), providing you with certainty of car related costs for up to the next four years.

If you elect to join Drive Electric, you are required to comply with the provisions of this Driver Handbook and agree to the variation of your terms and conditions of employment. The order confirmation on Drive Electric and the My Rewards website is your acceptance of the Driver Handbook, the terms and conditions of participation within Drive Electric and the change to your gross salary.

Specifically, your agreement to join includes:

- Confirmation of a reduced salary by a certain value and for an agreed time period
- Your understanding that this takes effect as a variation to your contract of employment
- Your agreement that you have fully understood the Terms and Conditions of participation contained herein and your agreement to be bound by them
- Confirmation that you (and any named driver) meet the eligibility criteria to join the Scheme (as set out in this Driver Handbook) and that the information provided to the insurer is complete and accurate
- Agreement to provide the necessary personal information and mandates as required
- Agreement that Barclays/Ayvens is entitled to use your personal information (including sensitive information) in connection with the management and administration of the Scheme (and for no other purpose)
- Authorisation for Barclays to deduct certain costs from your net pay through payroll as detailed throughout this document

For your own protection you are advised to carefully read this Driver Handbook before proceeding to place an order for a car

- If there is anything you don't understand, please contact the Driverline

Introduction

Personal Details

To ensure that information relating to your participation in Drive Electric is up to date and timely it is vital that you maintain your personal contact details via MyHR/Personal actions/Personal details. This information is provided to Ayvens on a regular basis.

Your personal details (i.e. home/work address, phone numbers and e-mail addresses) may also be provided to other third party companies in relation to the on-going management of your vehicle.

All information will be securely stored and not used for unrelated matters and provision of the information is a condition of use of the vehicle.

What is this Scheme?

Drive Electric is an employee benefit provided via My Rewards. An Electric Vehicle (EV) or Plug-in Hybrid Electric Vehicle (PHEV) of your choice is provided by Barclays for your business and personal use under a salary sacrifice arrangement.

Due to the increased taxation of company cars and the implication on increased costs to both Barclays and Barclays colleagues, Drive Electric does not offer access to Petrol, Diesel or other Hybrid Vehicles.

Drive Electric provides you with access to the use of a brand new, fully managed, maintained and insured company car at a level of net cost that may not be available outside of the Scheme.

What are the benefits of the Scheme?

- A brand new, fully managed, maintained and insured car for 2, 3 or 4 year periods
- Wide choice of make, model, optional extras, colour and trim levels
- No deposit, credit checks or personal finance agreements required
- An easy to use online portal for quoting and ordering vehicles
- Hassle-free motoring as all services are accessed via Ayvens

Introduction

What does the Scheme include?

The reduction in salary is fixed for the duration of the salary sacrifice period which matches the underlying vehicle lease between Barclays and Ayvens. It covers the cost to Barclays of providing the vehicle to you comprised of and including the following:

- The lease cost of the vehicle
- Road tax
- Maintenance and servicing costs, in line with manufacturer recommendations
- No quibble replacement tyres including accidental damage and punctures
- Fully comprehensive Class 1 insurance fixed for the period
- Business use is included for all drivers on the policy
- Accident Management
- 5-star Breakdown Assistance/Recovery
- 28 day relief vehicle should your car be immobilised by mechanical breakdown
- Early Termination Cover (conditions apply – see section on early terminations)
- Driving licence check
- MOT
- End of Contract damage cover (conditions apply – see section on End of Contract)

What does the Scheme not include?

- ✗ All fuel costs, including any electricity/power, topping up oil used between services, windscreen wash additives, refill or top-up of AdBlue, cleaning and valeting
- ✗ Certain early termination costs (see the section on early terminations)
- ✗ Excess mileage costs (if you drive more miles than you originally selected)
- ✗ Parking fines, speeding fines, congestion charges and other fixed penalties incurred by you or your named driver(s)
- ✗ Unreasonable wear and tear (defined against an industry benchmark set out by the British Vehicle Rental and Leasing Association - BVRLA)
- ✗ Abuse of the vehicle
- ✗ Insurance Service Charges (Excess)

All reasonable steps have been taken by Barclays and Ayvens to mitigate such costs and information is provided throughout this document and on the Drive Electric website giving you guidance on your responsibilities.

Salary sacrifice and tax

What is salary sacrifice?

Salary sacrifice is a mechanism whereby you contractually agree to give up part of your gross salary and in return receive a non-cash benefit provided by Barclays (in this case, a company car). This means in effect that the cost to the company of providing you with a company car is offset by a reduction to your gross salary before income tax and NIC are deducted.

Who is the salary sacrifice agreement between?

The salary sacrifice agreement is between you and Barclays and is a variation to your contract of employment. The vehicle is owned by Ayvens and leased to Barclays who in turn provide it to you as a company car under the Scheme.

Is there a maximum level of salary that I can sacrifice?

This scheme represents just one of the options available within the wider Barclays My Rewards voluntary employee benefits scheme, which also operate using the salary sacrifice mechanism. Your combined salary sacrifice for all benefits cannot reduce your normal salary to a level below the National Minimum Wage ("NMW"), National Living Wage (NLW) or an appropriate statutory payment level.

However, Barclays also imposes a restriction to prevent you from sacrificing more than 75% of your base gross salary, a restriction which already exists for the My Rewards salary sacrifice benefits. All of these checks are performed when you select the benefits within the My Rewards platform.

What is the effect of salary sacrifice on my tax?

Your income tax and national insurance contributions will be reduced as your gross salary will be reduced by this salary sacrifice agreement.

Instead, cars provided under this Scheme are company cars and you will pay tax on the benefit of the company car through payroll. As Drive Electric only offers EVs and PHEVs, tax is based on the car's specific "Benefit in Kind" (BIK) value, known as the taxable value or P11d value which is 2% for the 2022/23 tax year, increasing to 5% for the 2027/28 tax year (see page 9 for further details).

If you ordered a car before 1 October 2021, with CO₂ above 75g/km, the tax calculation will be different for you and you will have been advised of the indicative tax position when you received your order confirmation.

Due to the low Government taxation of EVs/PHEVs you should be able to make savings versus the normal retail cost of these vehicles.

How is the BIK tax for the car calculated?

The taxable value of the car is based on the following factors - the "list price" of the car, its level of CO₂ emissions, its electric range, and fuel type.

The "list price" of the car is defined as the manufacturer's published VAT inclusive list price on the day of first registration, including delivery charges and any optional extras fitted (also VAT inclusive). It is also often referred to as the P11D price.

CO₂ emissions levels are published by the manufacturer and reflects the grams of carbon dioxide emitted by the car for each kilometre travelled. CO₂ emissions will be 0g/km for an EV and between 1-50g/km for a PHEV.

The emissions figure maps to a "relevant percentage" according to graduated tables published by HMRC (see below), which include rates up to and including the 2027/28 tax year. The lower the CO₂ emissions and longer electric range, the lower the relevant percentage and ultimately the lower the BIK charge on which tax is due at your marginal income tax rate.

Salary sacrifice and tax

The net (post tax) cost is made up of the salary sacrificed, less the tax and NIC you would have paid on that salary, plus the income tax due on the BIK tax due on the vehicle. Where you use the “net pay modeller” in My Rewards to assess your net pay alongside your other selected benefits, the tax due in the current tax year will be used. Please note, however, that you will be required to pay the correct amount of tax due based on the appropriate calculation method, depending on your choice of car, for each tax year. The table on the following page illustrates the changes to the BIK up to April 2028.

What is my marginal income tax rate?

The rate at which you pay tax depends upon your personal circumstances and your total annual gross taxable income, which can include income from the following: earnings from Barclays (e.g. basic salary, bonus payments, share incentive income, and other cash sums) added to the sum of the taxable values of your selected benefits (such as a car through this Scheme), and can also include any other employment income you receive as well as other qualifying income.

In previous years a single, common set of Income Tax rules were applied in the UK. Since April 2017 a different set of thresholds applies if you live in Scotland where Income Tax is paid to the Scottish Government.

The thresholds between rate bands are set every year by the UK Government or, if living in Scotland, the Scottish Government, as are the personal allowance levels (the 0% rate band that individuals enjoy). Your marginal income tax rate can be deduced by summing your earnings and the total taxable value of your selected benefits, removing the personal allowance from that total and applying the relevant bandings to what is left. Please do note that this could be more complex if your taxable remuneration is near the thresholds.

Salary sacrifice and tax

Company Car Tax rates for cars first registered after 6 April 2020
Emissions (CO ₂ g/km)	Electric range (miles)		2022/23	2023/24	2024/25	2025/26	2026/27	2027/28
0			2%	2%	2%	3%	4%	5%
1-50	Zero emission miles	130+	2%	2%	2%	3%	4%	5%
		70-129	5%	5%	5%	6%	7%	8%
		40-69	8%	8%	8%	9%	10%	11%
		30-39	12%	12%	12%	13%	14%	15%
		<30	14%	14%	14%	15%	16%	17%

In the 1-50g/km of CO₂ band, the 'electric range figure' determines the appropriate percentage. The electric range figure is the number of miles which is the equivalent of the number of kilometres specified in a European Community (EC) certificate of conformity, an EC type – approval certificate of a UK approval certificate on the basis of which a car is registered, as being the maximum distance for which the car can be driven in electric mode without recharging the battery.

How will I be taxed on the car benefit?

When the car is delivered to you and the salary sacrifice period commences, Ayvens will advise the Barclays payroll team of the correct taxable value for the car each month and, in normal circumstances, you will be taxed on that value through payroll. As the benefit is being taxed via payroll, a taxable value relating to the car will also be displayed in the 'My Rewards Taxable Benefits' section of your payslip. If you have other taxable benefits, this value will represent the total taxable value of all of your benefits. There is no further action required on your part to notify HMRC of the receipt of the car benefit.

There may, in certain circumstances (see further information below), be a requirement for Barclays to complete a P11D form to report the taxable value relating to your car where it has not been possible to tax this benefit via payroll. This will generally be if you do not have enough net pay in a particular tax year from which to collect the tax relating to your car. If a P11D is required, the P11D will report the taxable value relating to your car. If you are in receipt of a P11D, this will be submitted by Barclays to HMRC by 6th July following the end of the tax year and you should also receive a copy of the form. You will then pay tax either through self-assessment or HMRC may agree to adjust your PAYE code to collect the tax retrospectively in following tax years. If you complete a self-assessment form on an annual basis then you will need to take the information from the P11D form above and enter the information on your self-assessment income tax return.

See 'Statutory and Unpaid Leave' section for examples of scenarios where you may receive a P11D form. Please note that in the event that you are required to fund Barclays for the cost of your vehicle during any period (with an amount equal to the gross sacrifice that would have been operated for that car during the salary sacrifice period), any payments you make in this way are contributions towards the private use of the car, which will reduce the applicable tax due in the tax year in question.

Does the car salary sacrifice value affect my pay related employment benefits such as Pension?

No, these are based on your reference salary (i.e. your salary before the salary reduction).

Salary sacrifice and tax

Will the Scheme affect statutory payments or state benefits?

Statutory payments and state benefits that are based on earnings subject to National Insurance may be affected by a salary sacrifice arrangement. Statutory payments that may be affected include statutory maternity pay and statutory sick pay. State benefits that may be affected include the maternity allowance or Universal Credit.

Further guidance can also be found on the HMRC website and you may wish to review this. You may also wish to seek independent advice on your personal circumstances. Please note that Barclays does not accept any responsibility for any impact to any individual's state provided benefits through joining the Scheme.

Will the Scheme affect tax credits?

Participating in the Scheme generally should not adversely affect any tax credits you receive. Further guidance can also be found on the HMRC website and you may wish to review this. You may also wish to seek independent advice on your personal circumstances.

First payment

The gross sacrifice amount of the vehicle will be deducted in advance. Please be aware that if your vehicle is delivered after the Barclays payroll cut-off date, or if Barclays are not notified before this date, your following pay will receive a larger deduction to take account of the period from the point of car delivery. Deductions will then continue as expected from the next payroll.

Will I be given any formal advice on the suitability of the Scheme for my circumstances?

Please be aware that information provided in this Driver Handbook and on the Drive Electric website does not in any way constitute the provision of financial advice by Barclays or Ayvens. You should seek independent financial advice if you are unsure.

Reimbursement of business mileage

Colleagues must pay for fuel directly and reclaim the expense as out of pocket expenses for business miles. The mileage reimbursement rates paid by Barclays are the Advisory Electric Rate (AER) and Advisory Fuel Rates (AFR) as published by HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC). HMRC, as well as Barclays, may change these rates at any time. These rates apply to company cars provided through Drive Electric, and also to any replacement car which may be provided.

<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/advisory-fuel-rates>

Additionally, colleagues in Drive Electric vehicles who undertake business miles will receive a 10 pence per mile Business Mileage Allowance as a contribution towards wear and tear costs incurred through business mileage. This Business Mileage Allowance will be calculated using the miles claimed (and fully processed) through expenses for miles driven in Drive Electric vehicles, multiplied by the agreed pence per mile rate. Business Mileage Allowance payments will be made through payroll (subject to tax and NI) in the month following the expense claim.

Eligibility and choice

Who is eligible to participate in the Scheme?

Eligibility to participate Drive Electric is at the sole discretion of Barclays. To be eligible to participate in the Scheme you must:

- Be employed by the Barclays Group and not be a member of any other Barclays provided company car scheme.
- Have sufficient salary to sacrifice at the date of joining and when placing any order for a new car under the scheme. Please be aware that you will not be permitted to sacrifice an amount of salary which would take you below the NMW, NLW, or into statutory pay (for example statutory maternity pay or statutory sick pay)
- Not have been placed at risk of redundancy or had displacement confirmed, or otherwise be aware of a leave date from your employment with Barclays at the point of placing a new order
- Be a UK taxpayer
- Meet any conditions set by Ayvens, for example driving licence validation

For insurance eligibility purposes you and your additional driver (now included as standard, but must be a partner or spouse living at the same address) must at the date of the order request:

- Have a full UK or EU driving licence
- Have no more than 9 driving licence penalty points
- Have no more than 2 own fault accidents in the past 3 years
- Be aged 18-75 (please read the acceptance criteria for the open driving policy as this is different and please note the excess variables depending on age)

You are able to join the Scheme at any point during the year and the salary reduction will continue for the duration of the agreed salary sacrifice period which will match the underlying lease period of the vehicle (24, 36 or 48 months).

You are responsible for notifying Ayvens immediately via the Driverline of any changes to circumstances which might affect your eligibility.

Ayvens and Barclays reserve the right to change the eligibility requirements from time to time, or to withdraw eligibility to join the scheme if, for example, you fail to follow the guidelines contained in this Driver Handbook.

Who else is eligible to drive the car?

As of the 11th August 2024, at the point of placing an order in the drive electric website, an additional driver is included as standard on your policy. This person must be a partner or spouse living at the same address. If you are insured by AXA or Allianz, unless you specified and added an additional driver, only you are insured to drive the vehicle under your policy.

As of 11th August 2024, at the point of placing an order, you also have the option at that time only to tick the 'Open Driving' option.

This allows any driver over the age of 25 to drive your vehicle. However, they must meet the insurance criteria:

- Have a full UK or EU driving licence
- Have no more than 9 driving licence penalty points
- Have no more than 2 fault accidents in the past 3 years
- Be aged 25 - 75

The Open Driving option is at the Barclays employees discretion and it is yours & your additional drivers responsibility to make sure that you meet the insurance conditions.

If any driver does not meet the conditions, their insurance will be invalid.

It is not possible for drivers to take out a separate insurance policy on the Drive Electric vehicle.

How many cars can I take through the Scheme?

You are entitled to one salary sacrifice company car through the Scheme.

What if I am part-time?

All employees on Barclays payroll are eligible to join this Scheme providing they meet the eligibility criteria detailed within this document.

Eligibility and choice

Are there any restrictions on my car choice?

The maximum CO₂ limit for any vehicle within Drive Electric is 50 grams/km. This is restricted within the Drive Electric site. There are no exceptions to this restriction which is set in recognition of the environmental impact of car travel and in line with Barclays objective to reduce CO₂ emissions per kilometre of business car travel.

What salary sacrifice periods are available?

The standard car term is 36 months, but for added flexibility you are also able to select a 24 month term, which could be more expensive but will allow you to change your car more frequently, or a 48 month term. The salary sacrifice period will match the underlying term of your agreement and both will start when the car is delivered to you.

What mileage options are available to me?

Mileage will be variable and dependent on your requirements. Please consider both your business and private mileage requirements through the course of the year. You can select mileage from 6,000 total miles per annum up to 50,000 total miles per annum in increments of 2,000 miles.

What happens if I exceed the mileage allowance?

The Scheme allows you to select your expected annual mileage and you must pay due care and attention to this point to ensure as accurate an estimate as possible is provided. At the end of the sacrifice period if the vehicle has more mileage than you had selected then a mileage variation charge will apply, which reflects the additional running costs/depreciation suffered by Ayvens on that vehicle. This amount will be charged by Ayvens to Barclays and Barclays will pass this cost on to you via a deduction from net pay through payroll. The most cost efficient approach for you is to ensure all required mileage is reflected in the original quote, such that the tax efficiency of the salary sacrifice mechanism can apply to that cost. It would, therefore, be best to slightly overestimate your mileage than underestimate it.

The charges may take up to 3 months to be processed after the end of the sacrifice period depending on the payroll cut off. You will be notified in writing in advance of the value of the charges, which may be deducted from your regular salary or from any other payments due to you by Barclays. In the event that it is not possible to recoup all monies owed from your salary or other payments due to you by Barclays, you will be required to arrange an alternative method of payment.

What happens if I drive fewer miles than my selected allowance?

If, at the end of the sacrifice period, you have overestimated your mileage, you will receive a gross reimbursement from Barclays through payroll. This reimbursement will be subject to income tax and NIC as normal for cash paid through payroll.

What happens if I have to return my vehicle early?

If you have to return your vehicle early and there is a mileage variation (pro-rated at the point of return) there would be no additional charge or reimbursement due to you as this will be included in the Early Termination Charge (see Early Termination section).

What happens if I purchase my vehicle?

If you choose to purchase your vehicle at the end of your contract and there is a mileage variation, there will be an additional charge or reimbursement due to you as this will not be included in the Purchase Price of the car. This will be arranged through payroll.

However, if you terminate the vehicle contract early and would like to purchase the vehicle, the mileage variation will be included in the early termination calculation.

Eligibility and choice

Can I add accessories to the car at order?

It is possible to add factory fit options to your chosen vehicle and these must be selected using the Drive Electric website. A wide range of options are available on each vehicle but these are restricted to manufacturer factory fit choices only. When selecting your accessories, please remember that the total of the full VAT inclusive list price of the accessories is added to the list price of the car to calculate the Benefit in Kind tax charge (see section “How is the tax for the car calculated?”).

Standard items will be available in the Drive Electric portal under dealer fit accessories. If you are not able to find the item you are looking for please call the Driverline for assistance.

Can I select a tow bar?

A tow bar can be specified as an accessory at the time of ordering your vehicle. This will become a taxable accessory and its list price will be added to the list price of the car for taxation purposes. However, if a tow bar is required after delivery of the vehicle you will need to seek authorisation from Ayvens. There are limits on the maximum gross trailer weight that can be towed by each vehicle and not all EVs are able to have a tow bar fitted. We would recommend seeking advice from the dealer who supplied your vehicle before fitting a tow bar. If agreed all costs will be met by yourself.

Please note if a tow bar was not fitted as part of the original order, tow bars and associated fixtures should be removed prior to return of the vehicle. Any holes or damage should be made good to a professional standard. You must ensure that your driving licence permits you to drive the vehicle with the trailer attached. Drivers who passed their UK driving test after 1 January 1997 will have had to pass an additional test in order to tow a trailer over 750kg. Note that this is the laden weight and not just the weight of the trailer and careful consideration must be made in regards to what is being towed. Failure to do so is an offence in law and is subject to a fixed penalty notice and/or a licence endorsement.

Please note that if permission to tow is given you should obtain additional insurance cover for your trailer or caravan. This must be arranged through Ayvens Insurance.

Can I use my personalised number plate?

The use of personalised number plates is permitted on cars through Drive Electric. Due to DVLA regulations, there are certain procedures that must be followed in order to have a personalised number plate assigned to a ‘Lease Company Vehicle’. If you would like your personalised number plate transferred to your vehicle, please advise Ayvens when you receive your order confirmation, they can then confirm the process for you. You will be required to pay Ayvens for any costs associated with the transfer of personalised number plates including removal at the end of the contract.

Insurance

What are the insurance arrangements for Drive Electric?

The vehicle will be insured on a fully comprehensive basis throughout the salary sacrifice period. Ayvens is the policyholder as the party who are the owners of the vehicles and have ultimate responsibility to ensure that it is insured. Upon delivery you will be provided with a certificate detailing your name only, but this will cover an additional driver (partner or spouse living at the same address) and if you have ticked the 'Open Driving' option, any driver that meets the insurance criteria.

Ayvens are providing you with a fully insured vehicle. You (and any other named drivers) benefit from the policy just as you would under your own motor insurance policy. You are also bound by the policy terms and conditions. You will receive a Certificate of Insurance, every year throughout the term of your agreement. The full insurance policy is held by Ayvens and you can request a copy for your records.

As this is a group insurance policy, claims will be handled by Ayvens, so drivers should not contact the insurer directly.

The price of the insurance will be individually rated, based on a short series of questions asked when the vehicle quote is provided through Drive Electric. You must provide accurate and honest answers to all questions or the insurance may not be valid, leaving you liable for any costs. Insurance costs are factored into the gross salary sacrifice and are fixed for the duration of the vehicle lease period and therefore the salary sacrifice period.

What is covered?

- Fully comprehensive Class 1 insurance for you and a partner or spouse living at the same address
- Business use for you and all other drivers if you are insured under the Ayvens insurance policy. If you are not insured under the Ayvens insurance policy, only the Barclays colleague is covered for Business use.
- Uninsured Loss Recovery – Where liability has been accepted by a third party for a non-fault claim, recovery of costs and expenses not covered by insurance, such as excess payments.
- All windscreen and glass replacement included up to the service charge
- Limited International Travel - limitations on overseas travel are detailed in the Taking Your Vehicle Abroad section below

Who can the insurance cover?

If you are covered under Ayvens Insurance, the insurance scheme will allow:

- As standard, your partner or spouse living at the same address as you.
- Drivers with up to 9 driving licence penalty points
- Drivers with up to 2 fault incidents in the past 3 years.

Drivers that do not meet the insurance criteria set out by Ayvens will not be eligible for cover and therefore insurance will be refused.

If you are insured under the previous insurer, AXA or Allianz, the scheme will allow:

- If selected at the time of order, a partner or spouse living at the same address.
- Drivers with up to 7 driving licence penalty points
- Drivers with up to 1 fault incidents in the past 3 years.

If you are unsure, please check your most recent insurance certificate or call the Barclays Driverline.

Insurance

Are there any Excesses in the event of a claim?

In the event of an insurance claim, Ayvens, as the insured party, is responsible for the Excess. This cost will be charged to you in the form of a Service Charge, collected by the repairer on completion of the repair.

If you are due to leave Barclays whilst the vehicle is in for repair, you must advise Ayvens, to ensure that the Service Charge is collected.

The majority of Barclays colleagues will be insured under the Ayvens insurance. You will be able to tell by checking the last insurance certificate you received, or by calling the Barclays Driverline. If you are not under the Ayvens insurance, you will be covered by either AXA or Allianz.

If you are insured by Ayvens, the following criteria applies. Accidental damage, fire and theft is £250 per claim, subject to the following:

- £1,000 for drivers under 21 years of age.
- Windscreen claims £100.
- £1,000 if vehicle performance is enhanced through Over Air Update
- £50 replacement or repair to electric charging cable

The above amounts are payable regardless of fault of claim.

If your insurance certificate specifies that AXA is your insurer, the following criteria applies. Accidental damage, fire and theft is £250 per claim, subject to the following:

- £500 for drivers aged 21- 24 and
- £425 for drivers aged 25 and over with a full UK licence for less than 12 months at the time of loss or damage.
- Drivers aged under 21 will be on an individual basis during the order process.
- Windscreen claims £100.

If your car was ordered before 1 October 2021, your insurer will be Allianz and different charges are applicable and can be requested from the Driverline.

The above amounts are payable regardless of fault of claim.

No claims bonus

Your no claims bonus will not accrue under this Scheme. Ayvens will be able to provide you with confirmation of your accident history, which many insurers would take into account for future motor insurance.

Personal Property

Loss of or damage to personal belongings is covered up to a limit (defined by the insurer).

Valuable items should not be left in your vehicle overnight and should be hidden from view wherever possible.

Insurance

Providing information to the Insurer

All the information provided during the quote and order process must be complete and correct as far as you know. You are responsible for making sure that information relating to all named drivers requested to be covered by the policy is also complete and correct. If it is discovered that you (or someone acting for you) deliberately gave incomplete or false information in the insurance application, all cover under the policy will end. This event will cause the early termination of your salary sacrifice period and the company car will be returned to Ayvens. Barclays will deduct the full cost of the early termination from your salary as a net deduction from payroll (see early termination section).

During the life of the vehicle your circumstances may change. It is your responsibility to advise Ayvens immediately of any changes to circumstances which might affect insurance should this occur during the salary sacrifice period, examples being if you/your named drivers receive additional penalty points to now exceed 9 points or if you lose your licence.

In the event of a claim to the insurance company it is found that you have provided inaccurate data or not maintained accurate data that would affect or invalidate the insurance, (e.g. if you lose your driving licence) you will be responsible for the full uninsured damages associated with the accident as though this was your own car and had no insurance.

You are not insured under this policy to drive any other vehicle.

Do you check my driving licence?

You will be requested to provide your consent for Ayvens (and/or its agent) to undertake a driving licence validation [for you only] by completing an online driving licence compliance check mandate. Completion of a licence validation is a condition of the insurance policy and it is not possible to deliver a vehicle without the check being completed.

Please ensure you read and understand the terms of the form before completing and submitting the mandate.

The information provided by the DVLA will only be used for risk assessment, insurance and assessing the suitability of individuals to drive a vehicle. All information will be treated in the strictest of confidence.

If the result of the licence check excludes you from joining/continuing in the Scheme Ayvens will contact you.

Early terminations

What happens if I have to leave the Scheme early?

When you join the Scheme you are committing to take the company car for the full salary sacrifice period and you should not join if you are unable to do this.

If your employment with Barclays terminates for any reason during the salary sacrifice period, or if you fail to continue to meet the eligibility criteria (e.g. because you are seconded overseas and are no longer a UK taxpayer, or because you lose your driving licence) then you will be required to return the car to Barclays on such date as is agreed between you and Barclays or as soon as reasonably practicable.

Any failure to return the car promptly will be treated as a disciplinary matter and you may incur financial penalties (up to the full value of the car) which will in the first instance be collected via deduction from your net salary or any other sums due to you from Barclays. In joining the Scheme, you are expressly authorising Barclays to make any such deductions.

If circumstances arise that necessitate the early termination of your salary sacrifice arrangement, Barclays may incur an early termination charge from Ayvens for the early termination and, depending on the nature and timing of the circumstances, you may be required to reimburse Barclays via a deduction from your net salary or other payments due to you through payroll.

In the event that it is not possible to recoup all monies owed from your net final salary or any other payments due to you, you will be required to arrange an alternative method of payment.

Any early termination charge payable by you would be capped at a level equal to 3 times the gross monthly salary sacrifice value. It will be collected from you via a deduction from your net salary or other sums due to you through payroll. Circumstances (arising at any time during the salary sacrifice period) that will normally give rise to an early termination charge payable by you are as follows:

- Dismissal (by any other reason than redundancy or ill-health)
- Loss of licence due to driver disqualification (and therefore enforced/requested return of the car)
- any circumstances not outlined below (e.g. a personal request to return the car early)

Please note you will be unable to rejoin the Scheme again until your original lease period has ended.

Circumstances (arising at any time during the salary sacrifice period) that will normally not give rise to an early termination charge payable by you (subject to management discretion) are as follows:

- Redundancy
- Termination of employment due to ill-health
- Loss of driving licence on medical grounds
- Death

Other circumstances will give rise to an early termination charge payable by you if they occur during the first 6 months of the salary sacrifice period (following delivery of your Ayvens car), but will not normally give rise to an early termination charge payable by you (subject to management discretion), if they occur after the first 6 months:

- Resignation
- Permanent injury
- Non-return from extended parental leave (not normal maternity, paternity, adoption leave)

Periods of leave

Tax

The vehicle will continue to be a taxable benefit for the duration of the salary sacrifice period, irrespective of leave type and tax will be collected accordingly. Please see 'How will I be taxed on the car benefit?' section for further information of the benefit reporting process in this scenario.

Maternity/Paternity/Adoption Leave ("Statutory Leave")

You will retain the use of the vehicle during any period of Statutory Leave and the salary sacrifice agreement will remain in place, though your earnings will not fall below any statutory minimum pay levels.

If the salary sacrifice period expires during your Statutory Leave you will be able to order a new vehicle via Drive Electric. However, if you do not intend to return to Barclays at the end of your Statutory Leave, an Early Termination charge may apply to your new vehicle. Instead, you may wish to consider extending the term of your current vehicle.

Long Term Sickness

You will retain the use of the vehicle during the period of sickness and the salary sacrifice agreement will remain in place, though your earnings will not fall below any statutory minimum pay levels.

If the salary sacrifice period expires during your long term sickness, you will be required to return the vehicle. You will be able to order a new vehicle if you can meet the terms of the salary sacrifice agreement. If you are unable to enter into a salary sacrifice agreement at the point when an order for a new car would be placed, you will be unable to order a new car until you return to normal employment (unless Barclays decides otherwise at its sole discretion).

Other types of leave (e.g. career break)

Provided that your employment with Barclays is continuing, you will not be required to return the vehicle during the period of unpaid leave/reduction in salary.

If the salary sacrifice period expires during your leave, then you will be required to return the vehicle. You will be able to order a new vehicle if you can meet the terms of the salary sacrifice agreement. If you are unable to enter into a salary sacrifice agreement at the point when an order for a new car would be placed, you will be unable to order a new car until you return to normal employment

If you are on leave which results in zero pay, or pay is at a level which would result in a partial sacrifice down to statutory levels (considering all benefits you have selected), then you are required to fund the shortfall to Barclays. You will be required to pay an amount equal to the gross sacrifice that cannot be made in any one pay period during the leave.

For example, if the gross sacrifice value is £400 per month and you are in a period of unpaid leave, then you are required to fund £400. Similarly, if you reduce your hours (and therefore pay) which results in only £300 being sacrificed (i.e. a partial sacrifice down to NMW), then you are required to fund the remaining £100. Please note that any payments you make in this way will reduce the applicable tax in the relevant tax year.

Looking after your car

Duty of care

You are personally responsible for the roadworthiness of the vehicle in accordance with legal requirements as if you were the owner of the vehicle. Ayvens determines lease costs on the assumption that the vehicle will be kept in good condition. It is therefore in the interest of all parties that the vehicle is maintained and kept in good condition and that the vehicle is as safely and securely parked or stored as is possible. You are under a duty to report all damage and defects immediately to Ayvens and to comply with the Terms and Conditions of the Scheme.

Servicing and Maintenance

You are responsible for keeping the vehicle in a clean and satisfactory condition. In order for the vehicle to be safe and perform well, Ayvens recommends that you carry out regular maintenance checks in-line with the manufacturer's handbook.

For safety reasons and to ensure the vehicle is maintained in the best condition, the vehicle must be serviced and maintained, at a garage approved by Ayvens. The costs of all normal servicing and repair are included in the cost of the vehicle and should be arranged via the Driverline. Depending on the location of the garage you may benefit from a collection and delivery service.

28 day relief vehicle

To ensure continued short-term mobility, the Drive Electric scheme includes a relief vehicle if your vehicle is off the road for mechanical reasons or if you have been involved in an accident and are going through the accident management process.

The relief vehicle is available to you for a maximum of 28 days per incident and this period cannot be extended under any scenario, even if your vehicle is still off the road due to delays at the garage/repair agent or insurer. Whilst your vehicle is off the road, we will try to arrange a courtesy vehicle with the relevant garage/ repair agent or manufacturer, however, we cannot offer any guarantee that a vehicle would be available.

Ayvens will work with the garage/repair agent or insurer to reduce the time your vehicle is off the road as much as possible however, if your vehicle is off the road for over 28 days and a courtesy vehicle is not available, then you will need to arrange alternative mobility.

The salary sacrifice agreement is required to continue whilst your vehicle is being repaired.

Driver Neglect

If the vehicle sustains damage due to the driver misuse and abuse or the driver neglecting to ensure that the vehicle is properly serviced and maintained, the driver shall be responsible for the cost of restoring the vehicle to a properly serviceable condition. This can affect the manufacturer's warranty and may void any warranty liability for parts in the future. You will also be charged for driver neglect of the vehicle under the following scenarios:

- Damage (not reported to Accident Management)
- Lost items (including keys and service manuals)
- Incorrect fuel (diesel in a petrol engine and vice versa)
- Failure to top up oil leading to the engine seizing
- Malicious tyre damage
- Lost wheel locking nuts

Looking after your car

Safety Recalls

From time to time manufacturers will issue safety recall notices. Ayvens will receive safety recalls and forward these to drivers. Upon receipt of a safety recall notice you should contact the Driverline to arrange for the vehicle to attend a franchised dealer as soon as possible. Ayvens will continue to issue safety recall reminders until confirmation has been received that the required work has been carried out. If you receive a recall notice, it is your responsibility to ensure that you book an appointment for the safety work to take place.

Breakdown Assistance and Recovery

You have access to 5-star emergency cover, 365 days a year, 24 hours a day, in Europe. Should roadside assistance be required, please call the Ayvens Driverline.

Glass and Windscreens

Many car windscreens can be repaired, including small stone chips which are out of the driver's line of sight. In the event of screen damage contact Ayvens. The costs of replacement and repair of vehicle glass is included in the leasing agreement although there will be a service charge (see insurance section).

Tyres

The costs of replacement tyres are included. It is the responsibility of the driver to ensure that the vehicle always has at least the minimum legal tread depth around the circumference and width of the tyres. Replacement tyres can be arranged via the Driverline.

The legal minimum requirement for tread depth is currently 1.6mm of tread across the central three-quarters of the tyre. Ayvens will replace tyres at 2mm. Tyres with bald patches, bulges or cuts over 2.5mm long exposing the cords are also illegal and unsafe. It is your responsibility to check your tyres regularly to ensure compliance. Failure to comply with this requirement can lead to a fine and three penalty points for each defective tyre.

Recurring Technical Faults

If your vehicle suffers from a recurring technical problem, contact the Driverline. The problem will be escalated with the dealer and manufacturer and you will be kept advised on progress until a satisfactory resolution is agreed.

Cleanliness

It is the driver's responsibility to keep the vehicle clean and tidy both inside and out.

Taxing your Vehicle (Road Fund Licence)

Vehicle tax is included in the cost of the vehicle and will be arranged by Ayvens.

MOT

It is your responsibility to ensure the vehicle has a valid MOT. Failure to have a valid MOT invalidates insurance cover and can cause delays in re-taxing the vehicle.

MOT reminders will be issued to you in advance of the expiry date to allow you time to book an MOT for the vehicle via the Ayvens Driverline.

Looking after your car

Fines and Fixed Penalty Notices

Other than any fines that have been left on your vehicle by the charging authority, Ayvens as the registered keeper will receive your fine.

Any fine received, will attract an Administration fee for the processing of the fine that will be recovered via payroll.

You will be able to dispute a fine directly with the issuing authority. If a fine is disputed and successfully overturned, please send the proof to Ayvens and we will reimburse the administration fee which will be processed via payroll.

Wherever possible liability will be transferred to you, as the named driver. You will then receive a communication directly from the charging authority. A communication relating to the handling of your fine will be emailed to you along with advice on how to dispute the fine should you wish to do so.

Any fines not paid within the stated period will be paid by Ayvens and the cost forwarded to Barclays. Barclays will recover the full cost of the fine via payroll.

In placing an order for a company car under this scheme, you are expressly authorising Barclays to make any necessary deductions for fines and sundry charges as described in this Driver Handbook.

See below for more details on the types of fines and the process for each.

Speeding Fines and Toll Charges - As the registered keeper of the vehicle Ayvens will receive speeding fine notifications. Upon receipt Ayvens will supply driver details to the issuing authority.

It is ultimately your responsibility to pay any speeding fines incurred.

Fines for using mobile phones - If you use a mobile phone whilst driving and are caught it is your responsibility to pay any fines associated.

Parking Fines

It is your responsibility to pay parking fines. As the registered keeper of the vehicle Ayvens will receive outstanding parking fine notifications. Upon receipt Ayvens will supply driver's details to the issuing authority.

The fine should be disputed as soon as the fine notification and dispute process communication is received from Ayvens. Failure to dispute in a timely manner may result in Ayvens having to make payment on your behalf and this will be recharged in full.

If Ayvens receive a final demand, they are unable to withhold payment. Any fines not paid within the stated period will be recharged to Barclays via Ayvens. Barclays will recover the cost of the fine via payroll.

Bus Lane

As the registered keeper of the vehicle Ayvens will receive notification of bus lane and toll fines.

Ayvens is unable to refuse payment on the grounds of the vehicle being a lease car. Therefore, payments will be made and recharged to Barclays. Ayvens will communicate the receipt of the Bus Lane to you via email. The fine will be recharged to you in full, via payroll.

Congestion Charges and Clean Air Zone (CAZ) Fines

As the registered keeper of the vehicle Ayvens will receive notification of any congestion charge or CAZ fines.

Ayvens is unable to refuse payment on the grounds of the vehicle being a lease car. Therefore, payments will be made and recharged to Barclays. Ayvens will communicate the receipt of the congestion charge or CAZ fine to you via email. The fine will be recharged to you in full, via payroll.

Accident Management

What is provided?

A full accident management service is provided as part of the scheme including:

- Claims management
- Repair management
- Like for like (where possible) relief vehicle for up to 28 days

Ayvens preferred suppliers must be used for all accident repairs. If you take your vehicle to a non-approved repairer you will be recharged any additional costs over and above Ayvens' agreed rates, plus an administration fee.

Immediate action at the scene

If an accident does occur you must always act to safeguard the interests of yourself, Barclays and the Insurers as follows:

- Never admit liability (this includes saying "sorry")
- Do not negotiate to settle any claim
- Take full details of all vehicles involved, together with drivers' names and addresses, their insurers (if available) and verify identification if possible (by asking for evidence of identity)
- Sketch out a rough plan of the accident scene, with road names and numbers, junctions, time and place of accident etc as soon as possible (only if it is safe to do so)
- Obtain full details of any witnesses involved – independent or otherwise
- Give your name and address, company name and address and insurer (as detailed on your cover note) to all third parties
- Inform the police if anyone involved is injured or there is damage to property
- The police must also be informed in cases of theft or if a third party did not stop or drove off without giving details

Thefts

If your car is stolen, broken into, or criminally damaged, inform the police straightaway. The policy will provide you with a crime number for future reference. You must then contact the Accident Management Team without delay.

Follow up actions

In the event of an accident you should contact the Driverline and the Accident Management team will manage the claim and damage repair of the vehicle

The Accident Management team will take the following details of the accident from you and notify the insurer:

- Your registration number
- Date and time of incident
- Incident location
- Damaged area of your vehicle
- Home address
- Third Party details, if applicable

Once the information has been provided the team will arrange for recovery or repairs to your vehicle. The team will advise you of your reference number and provide you with access to track your claim online.

In certain circumstances you may be contacted at a later date to provide additional information of the incident.

If the incident involved a third party, regardless of fault, you may receive correspondence from their insurance company. This is common practice, however, this should be forwarded unanswered to the Accident Management team who will respond on your behalf. If you have any queries, please contact the Driverline.

As in the case of any insurance claim, you will be required to pay a Service Charge to Ayvens (see Insurance section).

Accident Management

Non-driveable vehicles

Should your vehicle be non-driveable, it will be recovered to a garage straight away. At the time of your call alternative transport will be arranged for you.

The appointed garage will estimate the vehicle repair cost and send the estimate through to Ayvens' in-house engineers for approval. Once approved (usually same day) the repairs will commence and you will be kept updated on progress.

If circumstances dictate it may be more cost-effective to repair a vehicle near where the accident happened and transport the repaired vehicle back to your home or office address.

You will be given regular updates on repair progress.

Write-off process

If your vehicle is declared a total loss following an accident or theft, you will still benefit from a relief vehicle for up to 28 days, however, you will need to arrange alternative provision at the end of this period.

Your salary sacrifice agreement, and salary reduction, will continue until the vehicle is declared a total loss by the insurer. Once declared a total loss by the insurer, the salary sacrifice agreement will be terminated from the incident date and any overpayments will be refunded to you via payroll.

In some circumstances, you may be able to order a new vehicle, before the insurer's declaration, if a total loss is expected

Driveable vehicles

At the time of your call the Accident Management team will allocate the repair to the closest approved bodyshop to your home or work address – whichever is easier for you.

You will be given their details and asked to agree a suitable date for a mobile estimate in the following seven days from reporting the incident. This means that the garage will come out to your vehicle either at your home or work address and note the damage and take photos.

The appointed garage will estimate the vehicle repair cost and send the estimate through to Ayvens' in-house engineers for approval. Once approved (usually same day) the garage will contact you to arrange a convenient date to collect and repair your vehicle.

You will be given regular updates on repair progress.

Will I receive a relief vehicle?

You are eligible for a replacement for up to 28 days after the vehicle is declared off the road. You will be provided with a vehicle of a similar size to the vehicle you are driving, and we will aim to provide either an electric or hybrid vehicle, where available and appropriate.

The salary sacrifice agreement will continue whilst your vehicle is being repaired.

Further information on the 28 day relief vehicle can be found on page 19.

Health and safety

Safe Driving Programme

Barclays is committed to ensuring the health, safety and welfare of its employees and, as far as is reasonably practicable, to providing and maintaining safe working conditions.

All colleagues driving on Barclays business are required to adhere to the requirements of the Driving for Work Programme and to complete and maintain a Driving for Work profile to be permitted to drive for work.

To complete the Driving for Work Programme or to check your profile status, search 'Driving for Work' on the Barclays intranet where you find a list of permitted drivers and links to your profile and other useful information.

Driver Fatigue

Avoid driving when you are tired. Plan your journey to ensure you are able to take regular breaks and if you have a long journey consider splitting the journey by taking an overnight stay.

The early hours of the morning and early afternoon are when drivers are most likely to feel tired. Only drive in the early hours if you have to and if you are alert.

You should take breaks every two hours for at least 15 minutes.

Good Practice

All drivers must report all incidents no matter how minor to Accident Management.

All drivers are responsible for ensuring the vehicle is safe to drive, for example:

- Do not overload the car
- Do not allow the car to cause an obstruction
- Do not reverse a car for long distances
- Switch off the engine when stationary (except at traffic stops)
- Use dipped headlights at night in built up areas and in dull daytime weather, or if visibility is poor
- Only use rear fog-lamps when visibility is poor, e.g. in extremely heavy rain or fog, ensuring they are turned off when visibility improves (it is an offence to use them in good visibility conditions)
- Use lights half an hour before sunset and half an hour after sunrise

Mobile Phones

Do not use mobile phones whilst driving. This is illegal and expressly forbidden.

Smoking Policy

You must not smoke in your vehicle at any time, or allow anyone else to do so.

Health

Ensure you have regular health and eyesight checks. Do not drive if you are taking medication that carries a warning not to operate machinery and do not allow anyone else to.

Taking your vehicle abroad

Foreign Travel

Drivers will be permitted to take their vehicle abroad following authorisation and receiving the appropriate documentation from Ayvens. In order to arrange this please call the Driverline and choose the option for Foreign travel.

As this is a leased vehicle, you must obtain an overseas travel pack, irrespective of your country of destination. This pack contains your permission to travel documentation. There is a cost for annual cover, which you will be required to pay to Ayvens at the point of requesting cover.

This will also provide key information of any legal requirements relating to travel in each country. It will also contain key contact information in case of breakdown or emergency overseas.

These documents will be provided by Ayvens and you must allow 14 days to process the documentation prior to travel. This authorisation is valid for 12 months from receipt.

Insurance

Your vehicle is insured to drive in the UK and in any country within the European Union. If you wish to drive outside the EU, it is your responsibility to contact Ayvens via the Driverline and they will arrange cover with you directly; you will be required to pay for any additional premium.

You will receive an email copy of your updated insurance certificate following approval from Ayvens.

Before you Travel Abroad

Before you travel abroad you should carry out some basic checks on the vehicle, as it can be difficult to arrange maintenance repairs abroad, so it's worthwhile ensuring that any urgent maintenance work is completed in the UK prior to travel.

You should at least check the following:

- Engine oil levels
- Water coolant levels
- Tyre pressures and tread depths
- Wiper blades
- Lights
- Horn
- Valid insurance certificate/foreign travel documentation
- All legal requirements to drive in that country (e.g. high visibility jackets, breathalysers, light diffusers)

Accident

If you are involved in an accident whilst travelling abroad then you must report it in the same way as when travelling in the UK, via the Driverline.

Breakdown

Should you breakdown overseas, you are covered by Ayvens' European Breakdown cover and you can use the contact number provided on the overseas travel documentation.

If any repairs to your Ayvens vehicle cannot be completed in time for your return home then help is available. Details on repatriation and onward travel can be found below.

Taking your vehicle abroad

What is covered

The full terms and conditions are supplied in the travel documentation which must be requested prior to any European travel including:

- The cost of unaccompanied recovery for your vehicle, to a single destination being either a) the vehicle's permanent home address or b) The nominated vehicle repairer in the UK. This is conditional on Ayvens arranging recovery or agreeing to the method of recovery in advance
- You will also be covered for any reasonable storage charges incurred in recovery providing you/your driver have made every reasonable attempt to organise for your Vehicle to be returned to the UK
- Ayvens may, at their discretion, and depending on circumstances, arrange and agree with you an alternative method of recovered and cover other reasonable costs.

What is not covered

The limits of the repatriation and onward travel cover are summarised below. Please seek authorisation from Ayvens prior to authorising any action to ensure cover is available.

- Recovery where your vehicle only needs minor or inexpensive repairs
- If you choose to have your vehicle recovered onward to the original destination there will be no entitlement to any further recovery assistance for the full duration of that trip.
- Separate transportation costs for personal effects, goods, vehicles, caravans, boats or other waterborne craft carried in or on your vehicle/trailer. These remain your responsibility at all times.
- Any additional costs incurred for your pets.

End of period

Ordering a replacement vehicle

You will be able to order a new vehicle six months in advance of the end of your salary sacrifice period.

Please note new vehicles can take several months to be built and can be impacted by global factors such as raw material shortages and shipping delays. The Drive Electric portal provides access to indicative lead times provided by manufacturers so please review this when considering your order.

Ayvens will work with the manufacturer of your choice to align the delivery of your new vehicle with the contract end of your current vehicle. The earlier you order your replacement vehicle the greater the opportunity to align with your existing contract end date. Please be aware that this may not always be possible depending on the lead time of your chosen vehicle, in which case Ayvens will work with the manufacturer to deliver your vehicle as soon as is reasonably possible.

If Ayvens have not received your replacement order 1 month prior to your lease end date, you will be contacted and arrangements will be made to collect your vehicle at the end of the contract.

Return of vehicles

Vehicles should be clean inside and out to enable an accurate estimation of any damage by the collection agent. Vehicles should be returned with the following items:

- Full set of keys (including any spares)
- Stamped Service documentation (including service book and instruction manuals)
- Locking wheel nuts
- Any other items received with the vehicle

Any personal items should be removed from the vehicle, including any security passes and window stickers as it may not be possible to retrieve these at a later stage.

Vehicle collection

If you are leaving Barclays, you will need to return your vehicle to Ayvens. Failure to return the vehicle in a timely manner, will result in the vehicle not being roadworthy and safe to drive. It is the responsibility of the Barclays colleague and Ayvens to ensure the vehicle is returned ahead of the colleague leave date.

Can I purchase the vehicle?

You may have an opportunity (but not the right) to purchase the car at fair market value from Ayvens at the end of the salary sacrifice agreement, providing a request to do so is made one month before the end of the lease. Purchasing the car does not prevent you from joining the Scheme again for a new car.

Inspection of vehicle

(a) Key for Key Exchange

When returning a vehicle as a Key for Key Exchange (when the dealer delivering a new vehicle also collects the return vehicle), the delivery driver will complete a handover with you. Some areas of damage may be recorded at this time. You are required to sign the handover and are advised to retain a copy of this document. A full BVRLA (British Vehicle Rental and Leasing Association) inspection will be carried out on the vehicle when it arrives at the Ayvens de-fleet Centre. The full inspection will form the basis of any end of contract damage charges.

(b) Collection of vehicle where no new vehicle is being delivered

When the vehicle is collected and it is not a Key for Key Exchange, the collection agent will complete a full BVRLA inspection with you and you will be asked to sign to confirm the return condition of the vehicle. This inspection will form the basis of any end of contract damage charges.

Inspections are conducted by a BVRLA accredited inspector, in strict adherence with the BVRLA Standard of Fair Wear and Tear, which is the industry standard and not exclusive to Ayvens or Barclays.

End of period

What happens at the end of the period in the event of damage?

You will not be charged for minor wear and tear to the vehicle during the salary sacrifice period. You can expect to incur charges if a vehicle is returned with an unreasonable level of wear and tear or with items missing. What is considered as “unreasonable” is set out by the BVRLA and the main causes of unreasonable wear and tear are:

- Lack of regular checks by the vehicle user leading to faults and damage going undetected and unrepaired
- Not adhering to the vehicle manufacturer’s recommended maintenance and servicing schedule
- Drivers not taking responsibility for the day-to-day care and maintenance of the vehicle leading to general neglect
- Poor quality of body repairs (you should always use a Ayvens approved repairer)
- Missing stamps on service books/missing service books
- Missing spare key

Any charges will be forwarded to Barclays and Barclays will pass this cost on to you via a deduction from net pay through payroll. In placing an order for a company car provided under this scheme, you are expressly authorising Barclays to make any such deductions via payroll if required.

In the event that it is not possible to recoup all monies owed from your salary, you will be required to arrange an alternative method of payment.

Are there any other charges?

In placing an order under this Scheme, you are expressly authorising Barclays to make any necessary deductions for any charges outlined in this driver handbook.

In summary these include, but are not limited to:

- Cancellation charges – costs associated with cancelling a vehicle order prior to delivery.
- Early termination charges – any charges incurred for terminating the vehicle before the agreed end date.
- End of contract damage – any charges incurred for damage considered “unreasonable”.
- Excess mileage charges – stated as pence per mile plus VAT, will be charged at the end of the contract if the vehicle has exceeded the total contracted mileage.
- Fines – where these are met by either Ayvens or Barclays on your behalf.
- Driver neglect or unreported damage – including damaged or broken items.
